

GEIO Laboratory

Mission

GEIO is a research group that develops methodologies and applications to facilitate the learning of concepts of operations research and engineering in general, it broadcast through scientific and university channels at the national and international levels, changing the way Industrial Engineering is being taught, while being engaged in the scientific and personal growth of its members.

Vision

Through its development work and broadcasting methodologies GEIO Group will become in 5 years a learning guide for engineering in Colombia, known as an international scientific team.

Fuente: <http://www2.utp.edu.co/english/laboratories/157/geio-laboratory>

